

hand in TV row

SEX PISTOLS, the Punk Rock group whose four-letter performance on television caused uproar with viewers and television authorities, will appear at the Liverpool The performance is part of their "Anarchy in the Speaking from London, he said: "This talk of

"When we get on stage, we just give it all we have got. Sometimes things happen which we really have got. Sometimes things happen which we really are not responsible for. But I can tell you there should be no trouble at the Stadium."

who presented the Today programme which featured