

On the Town

New York calling the Clash

TICKETS GO on sale at Bonds (45th St. and Broadway) tomorrow for the Clash, who will headline the club May 28 to June 3. If any tickets are left after tomorrow, you can get them at Sweet B at Fiorucci, or Ticketron outlets throughout the city.

The club holds 1620 people, and considering that the Clash are one of the biggest groups around, this is a hot ticket. All tickets are $10, except for the Clash's May 30 matinee, which is $5. The Clash will bring eight English bands with them and will also employ eight U.S. bands (still to be determined) so that three bands (Clash included) will perform each show.

The Clash are bound for Bonds, with a week of excitement and concerts starting May 28.
